

Let me try!

Can you write Lily's words as an accurately-punctuated direct speech?

Let me try! said Lily as she clicked the mouse.

Up-level this sentence by adding an expanded noun phrase and an extra subordinate clause.

The fish was on sale at the shop.

Can you think of a word that ends in -ture to match these definitions?

items in your home - f_____

a fun journey - a_____

Rewrite these sentences in present perfect tense:

I went to the supermarket.

Lewis drew a picture.

Mr Whoops has accidentally jumbled up two -ous suffix words. What are they?

u d o g e r s n a
m n d t e e r o s u

Insert the correct speech punctuation into these sentences.

Daniel called, Are you ready?

The captain commanded, Drop to the floor!

a

Let me try!

Can you write Lily's words as an accurately-punctuated direct speech?

"Let me try!" said Lily as she clicked the mouse.

c

Up-level this sentence by adding an expanded noun phrase and an extra subordinate clause.

Accept an up-levelled sentence with an added expanded noun phrase and a subordinate clause, e.g. The fresh, delicious fish was on sale at the shop after being caught that very morning.

b

Can you think of a word that ends in -ture to match these definitions?

items in your home - furniture

a fun journey - adventure

d

Rewrite these sentences in present perfect tense:

I went to the supermarket.
I have been to the supermarket.

Lewis drew a picture.
Lewis has drawn a picture.

c

Mr Whoops has accidentally jumbled up two -ous suffix words. What are they?

u d o g e r s n a
m n d t e e r o s u

dangerous

tremendous

f

Insert the correct speech punctuation into these sentences.

Daniel called, "Are you ready?"

The captain commanded, "Drop to the floor!"