LeBron James, an American basketball star, opened an 'I Promise School' in July 2018, aimed at educating at-risk children in his hometown of Akron, Ohio. The school is supported by the LeBron James Family Foundation.

At the start of the year, students make promises to themselves and these are repeated every morning.

Your task this week is to write five 'I Promise' statements and create a piece of art based on these promises.

There are many promises in this book to help you get started.
