French

You will remember that last half term in French we looked at various places 'around town' and we learnt some new vocabulary and had a go at writing some sentences about what a visitor would (or wouldn't) find in Kingsland.

This week, I'd like you to click on the link to BBC Bitesize (<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zjcbrj6/articles/z3kgn9q>) and look at the 'Where are you going?' and 'Places in a town' sections.

Listen to the French and have a go at repeating. If you can, work with an adult or a sibling to practice asking the question 'Where are you going?' and respond with different sentences (in French). Can you translate each other's answers?

Then, complete the table below. Use the website to help you write the sentences in French.

You can either print this sheet out, or copy the table into your book.

I am going to the café.
I am going to the leisure centre.
I am going to the museum.
I am going to the restaurant.
I am going to the supermarket.

CHALLENGE: Complete this sentence using the website to help you.

À Kingsland, il n'y a pas de _____ et _____.
